4 Surprising Ways to Stand Out in Your Job Search, According to a CEO

Last year, my firm was looking for an Executive Assistant. In a small (but busy) office, this is a critical job function. Not only is this person client-facing with prospective and existing clients, they must also manage me — a busy professional with far too many balls in the air.

Our job posting resulted in an avalanche of resumes and cover letters, all of which looked or felt the same, and too many of which were riddled with spelling and grammatical errors. We just didn't feel like we had a good pool of candidates.

In order to change the game, we asked for a writing sample from all applicants. Not just a cover letter, but a writing sample of their choosing. Our goal was to try and gain a sense of the person's personality, verify they had great spelling and grammar, and try and find the stand outs.

Two things became clear when we changed our process: most people didn't follow directions. But those who did follow the process and took the time to be creative with their application? Wow, did they ever stand out!

The best one? The woman whose writing sample was her bio, that she explained was going to be on our website. Not only had she gone to our website to do her own research, she wrote her bio in the style that we did. Super impressive!

You may be surprised that standing out isn't all that hard. Here are four surefire ways to have you standing above the crowded field of applicants:

1. Actually follow directions.

Does the application call for a cover letter and resume? Then, send both. Does it direct you to apply via a website rather than directly with HR, or vice-versa? Then, do that. The applicants who don't follow basic directions get dismissed before their resumes are even considered.

2. Answer questions before being asked.

Have a lot of jobs, with no real tenure? Took time off to take care of your kids or sick parents? Let your potential employer know some of the reasons why there may be gaps in your resume. You can do that effectively in a cover letter, or even on the face of your resume.

3. Do your research, and find your mission.

If you're applying for a job with a company, there must be a compelling reason (i.e. it's more than the money!). Tell them that reason. As an example, "I am impressed with your consistent support of our local nonprofit. That organization is near and dear to my heart because...." Or, "Your reputation as a leading CPA firm in our region is impressive. My work ethic and dedication to clients will ensure that I help you keep that reputation."

4. Show that extra spark.

Don't be afraid to put yourself out there and show that you stand apart from the others. I once talked to a CPA candidate who was obviously older than the rest of his peers, and had an obvious blank job history for nearly all of his 20's. When I asked him about that, he told me he had been a fisherman on the Bering Sea in Alaska (think: Deadliest Catch) and didn't think the experience was applicable to the field of accounting. I told him he was wrong. Being a fisherman on the Bering Sea? What does that tell me? It tells me that you have an incredible work ethic, that you can withstand difficult situations, and that you are loyal — going back season after season to do one of the most difficult and dangerous jobs there are. I implored him to put that experience on his resume, and assured him he would stand out above all!

I know you're going to get the interview using some of these basic techniques. Let me close by bringing you in on a little interviewing secret that will really make you stand out: when I take the time to interview someone and they've clearly done their homework and ask questions that are smart and engaging, they are going to be tough competition for everyone else. Remember, a job interview is not just about whether you fit with the firm. You should interview us to make sure we're a good fit for you. Employers like me are looking for people who will stand out above the crowd, who will bring their originality and personality to our workplace, and who aren't afraid to go above and beyond to get the job.

Carpentry Training

The construction industry on the Lower Eastern Shore needs workers!

Wor-Wic Community College is offering a construction training program funded by a Department of Labor, Licensing and Regulation EARN Maryland grant in partnership with industry representatives, Quality Staffing Services and the Lower Shore Workforce Alliance.

For more information about course content & schedule, contact Wor-Wic at 410-334-2815 or visit their website at <http://www.worwic.edu/Academics/ContinuingEducation/CarpentryTraining.aspx>.

To be considered for the training, please contact Quality Staffing Services at 410-742-2600 or visit their website at EasternShoreJobs.com and apply for "Carpentry Training."

To be eligible for consideration, candidates must:

- Be a Maryland resident (Lower Shore preferred)
- Have a High School Diploma or GED (Minimum age 17)
- Be able to pass a pre-employment "5 panel" drug screen
- Display hand-arm steadiness
- Display strong near-vision to see details at close range
- Be able to recognize and solve problems
- Be able to adjust controls with precision
- Be able to lift 50 lbs. unassisted
- Possess good depth perception and manual dexterity
- Be able to purchase and wear safety equipment (e.g. safety glasses, gloves, hearing protection)
- Have reliable transportation

Basic Construction Techniques is designed to prepare students with the basic skills required to enter the construction industry.

Experience "hands-on" instruction on proper and safe use of hand and power tools. Focus on basic safety standards for construction. Review basic math & measurement as they relate to construction (mathematical functions, decimal-fraction conversion and basic geometry), reading a tape measure and print reading. Review drawing plans to determine materials and fasteners needed.

Discover the importance of work ethic from the employer's perspective. Demonstrate critical thinking and problem solving skills by working through issues related to the construction industry. Focus on construction career paths and understand how a construction team works together. Topics include floor systems, wall systems, basic stair layout, doors and door hardware, drywall installation, drywall finishing, suspended ceilings, trim (window, floor & ceiling) and cabinet installation.

Welding Training (Free)

The welding industry is in the midst of a worker shortage that is expected to intensify as baby boomers age and the need for skilled welders grows.

Through a partnership with Arcon Welding Services, Quality Staffing Services and the Lower Shore Workforce Alliance, Wor-Wic Community College is offering a welding training program funded by the Department of Labor, Licensing and Regulation EARN Maryland grant.

For information about the course, policies and procedures, contact Wor-Wic at (410) 334-2815 or visit the website at www.worwic.edu.

To be considered for the training, please contact Quality Staffing Services at (410) 742-2600 or visit their website, EasternShoreJobs.com, and apply for Welding Training.

To Be Eligible For Consideration, Candidates Must:

- Be age 17 or older
- Have a High School Diploma or GED
- Be able to pass a pre-employment "5 panel" drug screen
- Display hand-arm steadiness
- Display strong near-vision to see details at close range
- Possess good depth perception and manual dexterity
- Be able to work in extremely hot, dusty and noisy environments
- Be able to lift at least 50 lbs. unassisted
- Be able to adjust controls with precision
- Be able to recognize and solve problems
- Be able to work well with others and accept positive, constructive criticism that aids in growth
- Be able to supply and wear safety equipment (e.g. welding helmet, safety glasses, gloves, hearing protection, steel toe boots, jacket (100% wool, leather or cotton or hybrid of these materials) and 100% cotton long sleeve shirt - est. cost $250) for up to 7 hours per day.
- Maryland resident (Lower Shore preferred)
- Be job ready
- Have reliable transportation
- Be able to support themselves for the duration of the training

Basic Arc/Fluxed Core Welding is a 455 hour course (full time for 13 weeks), designed to provide the entry level welder with the skills necessary to secure employment in the welding industry. Students will progress from basic arc flux cored welding to the welder qualification test for structural welders. Includes basic safety for welders and an introduction to hand and power tools. Develop knowledge to work safely within industry standards and to recognize and avoid hazards.

Safely establish and utilize an oxy-fuel outfit for cutting of steel and the basics of the thermal cutting processes. Use power tools for preparation of base metals prior to welding, be able to use measuring devices and fit-up tools effectively.

Identify the AWS classification of electrodes and their application to the various welding procedures as well as the limitations of filler metals. Select the proper polarity and current requirements for various electrodes and identify the common welding processes used.

Recognize common weld discontinuities, defects and successfully inspect work to industry standards set forth in the "AWS D1.1 Structural welding code." Be aware of the requirements of a "Welder Procedure Specification." Students will be required to pass a written evaluation as well as a destructive bend test prior to seeking employment.

A welder qualification record (WQR) will be issued to successful completers. Training includes both classroom and shop instruction with the division of time being 20% class instruction and 80% shop instruction.

The intent behind the welding training is to obtain welding employment.

Prepare for a Career at Delmarva Power

Step 1- If you are interested in a career with Delmarva Power (focus is on linesmen at this time), please call Wor-Wic to reserve a seat in a free information session.

Step 2- At the end of the information session, you are welcome to take a free basic English and math assessment to determine if you are ready for the next step.

Step 3- For students who pass the assessment, you are able to prepare for Delmarva Power's pre-employment exam by taking a preparation course: "Get Into Energy Math Revised Course" through Wor-Wic at a total tuition cost of $25 during day or evening times.

Step 4- Students who pass the assessment are able to take the pre-employment exam through Delmarva Power for potential employment.

Delmarva Power has multiple job opportunities in our area!
Reserve your seat in one information session by calling Wor-Wic at 410-334-2815.
Registration for information sessions will be accepted on a first come, first serve basis.

The metal fabrication industry is in the midst of a worker shortage, which is expected to intensify as baby boomers age and the need for skilled metal fabricators grows.

Through a partnership with Crystal Steel, Arcon Welding Services, Quality Staffing Services and the Lower Shore Workforce Alliance, Wor-Wic Community College will be offering a metal fabrication training course in the near future. This course will be free thanks to funding from the Department of Labor, Licensing and Regulation EARN Maryland grant.

The new Basic Metal Fabrication course will provide 250 hours of half day (8:30AM-12:00PM) instruction and practice Monday through Friday, over 14 consecutive weeks. Students who graduate will be job and career ready and have entry level metal fabricator skills that are necessary to secure employment in the metal fabrication industry.

Eligibility requirements, course information and how to apply will be forthcoming. Please contact Dr. Rhonda Banks at Wor-Wic Community College for additional information at rbanks@worwic.edu or 410-334-2815.
