How to Write Your Address on Your Resume

One of the first things that a hiring manager sees on your resume is your address (it's usually right at the top). However, in an age when physical mail is losing relevance, how important is it to write your address on your resume?

Should I Put My Address On My Resume?

When considering what to put on a resume, understand that including your address is traditional, but not required. Whether or not you include it depends on your:

Priorities — are you worried about privacy or security?

Circumstances — are you applying from out of town?

Do you have the space on your resume to include it?

If you're not sure what to do, we've outlined the pros and cons of putting your addressing on your resume so that you can make the best decision for yourself.

Address On Resume: Pros

1. It looks less suspicious if you include it

Since it's common practice to write your address on your resume, hiring managers expect to see it.

Therefore, if you don't include your address, it immediately triggers red flags in hiring managers' heads, and makes them question why you left it off. This could cause hiring managers to disregard your resume, ending the bid for your target job before it really began.

2. It's preferred by applicant tracking systems (ATS)

An important aspect of applying for jobs today is knowing how ATS software works, because nearly 40 percent of employers use it to screen candidates.

ATS software filters resumes by locating certain key terms, and for certain pieces of software, your address is one of those key terms. By leaving out your address on your resume, you may accidentally put yourself out of the running.

3. Your employer might need it for their records

When you apply for a job, a company often starts compiling a record with your files in it. An important piece of information for these files would be your contact information, which includes your mailing address.

If you choose to not include your address on your resume, you could unwittingly cause your employer to reject your application because it's incomplete.

4. Your employer might need it for background checks

In recent years, employment background checks have become common practice, with 96% of employers using them to screen applicants. If your employer is running a criminal background check, a current address helps with determining which jurisdictions to pull records from.

By withholding your address, securing a complete background check becomes more difficult for your employer, which affects whether your resume continues through the application process.

Address On Resume: Cons

1. It feels outdated

In the age of the internet, few people would use a mailing address as their primary communication method. Because of this, you might feel that cramming in an address is a waste of space on your already crowded resume.

Some job seekers would argue that as long as you include your phone number and your email, that will be enough contact information for your employer to get ahold of you.

2. It poses a security risk

If you're applying for your job through a third party, like a job search board, you may feel apprehensive about writing your address because you're not sure how many people will have access to your resume.

If this causes you to feel unsafe, or if you would like to go through more privacy protections before disclosing your address, exercise your right to abstain from giving out your address.

Tip One concern you may not have considered when deciding whether to write your address on your resume is the possibility of identity theft. If you're worried about this happening to you, check out the Identity Theft Resource Center's tips on protecting your identity while job searching.

3. Distance bias

If your employer is looking for local talent, including a non-local address might cause hiring managers to trash your resume immediately.

Long commutes have a detrimental effect on employees' health and productivity, and some employers may go so far as to use your address to determine your commute. If you live too far from work, employers may be hesitant to bring you on.

4. Location bias

Certain zip codes may be considered undesirable areas, making some job seekers hesitant to reveal their address in fear of being judged. While employment discrimination based on race, religion, or sex is prohibited under U.S. law, discrimination based on socioeconomic status is legal and not as widely talked about.

Unfortunately, it's possible that once a hiring manager learns that you're from a particular area, their social biases will stop them from calling you in for an interview.

5. It takes up space

No matter how experienced you are, it's generally not recommended to have your resume run longer than one page. Because of this, if including your address forces your resume to extend to two pages, it's better to nix it in favor of cleanliness and presentation.

And since most people don't correspond by mail, your address is a logical choice for being the first piece of information to go.

Tip If you're still not clear on how your resume should look, you should start by understanding resume margins.

How to Write Your Address On A Resume

Now that you have some reasons to consider regarding whether to list your address on your resume, you may be curious about what options you have for writing it.

Here are a few ways you can include it:

1. Use a full address

If you want to go the conventional route, you can use your full address. List it near the top of the page, and use abbreviations to make it fit on one line if possible.

Example

466 Blue Spruce Lane, Baltimore, MD 21202

2. Don't use an address at all

On the other extreme, you could also leave no address. If you choose this option, make sure you give employers at least one other form of reliable contact information, like your phone number or email address, so they can still notify you about interviews.

3. Include only the city and state

If you're worried about people tracking you down by your exact address, you can also simply leave just the city and state you live in. That way, employers know roughly how long your commute is, and whether or not you're a local candidate. If you want to be careful, you can leave your zip code, since some ATS software uses zip codes for screening applicants.

Examples

Baltimore, MD

Baltimore, MD 21202

4. List your region or area

You can also include the region you live in to let the hiring manager know more or less your general location. Include your zip code if you want to make sure the ATS doesn't skip over you.

Examples

Baltimore Metropolitan Area

Baltimore Metropolitan Area 21202

5. Note that you're "relocating to (city, state)"

If you're not local but still want to be considered a viable candidate, simply include a line that states "Relocating to City, State in Month, Year" near the top of your resume. Add the likely zip code to increase your chances of appeasing the ATS.

Examples

Relocating to Baltimore, MD in September 2019

Relocating to Baltimore, MD 21202 in September 2019

Tip If you're moving for work, you'll need to write a persuasive relocation cover letter too.

When should you include your country on your address?

If you're relocating or willing to relocate internationally, write your country into the address section of your resume. While some might think it's a risk, it's better to be upfront about where you're currently based and your intentions when it comes to moving for your job.

Example

69 Wrexham Rd, Fairholm, ML9 2ZX United Kingdom

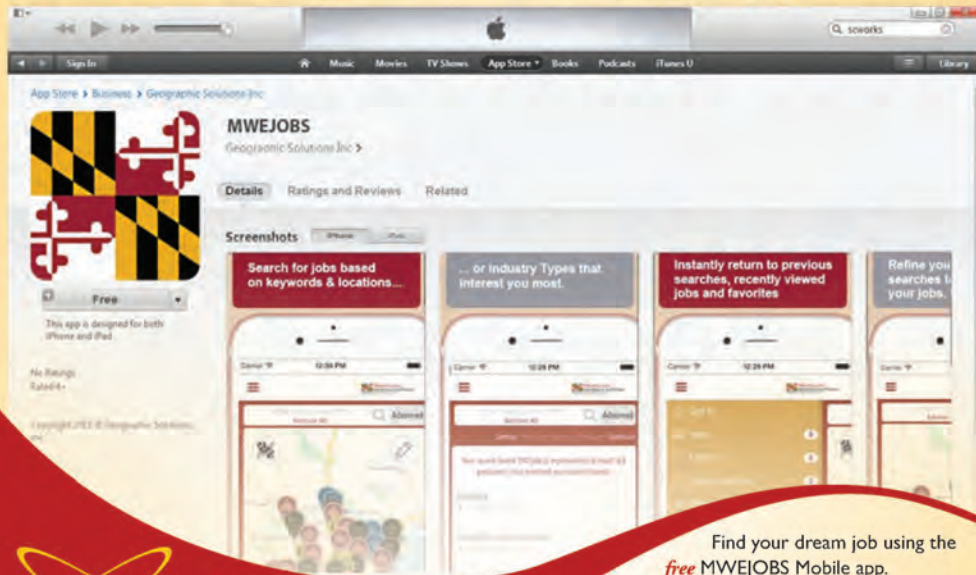

Relocating to Baltimore, MD 21202 in September 2019

Final Thoughts

At the end of the day, your main goal should be to get your resume past the ATS and in front of human eyes, even if it's only for 6 valuable seconds. So if writing some form of your address on your resume will increase your chances, it's better to be safe than sorry and add it.

Metal fabricators are in demand!

Metal fabricator training is ongoing through a partnership with Wor-Wic Community College, Arcon Welding Training Center, Crystal Steel, Quality Staffing Services and the Lower Shore Workforce Alliance. The training is free thanks to grants from the Maryland Department of Labor EARN and Maryland Energy Administration.

Courses run Monday through Friday for 14 weeks from 5:30-9:00pm. For more information, please contact Wor-Wic at (410) 334-2815, visit www.worwic.edu or email Dr. Rhonda Banks at rbanks@worwic.edu.

To be considered for the free career-changing training, contact Quality Staffing Services at (410) 742-2600 or visit easternshorejobs.com and apply for Metal Fabrication Training.

The new Basic Metal Fabrication course will provide 250 hours of evening instruction and practice over 14 consecutive weeks. Graduates of the training will be job and career ready and have entry level metal fabricator skills that are necessary to secure employment in the metal fabrication industry.

Students will progress from basic blue print reading and industry math to fundamental A.I.S.C. fitting practices for a variety of metal shapes. This course includes safety for fabricators and an introduction to hand and power tools. Students will develop knowledge for working safely within the industry standards, recognize and avoid potential hazards and receive OSHA trainings.

Metal fabrication students will safely work with oxy-fuel and hand-held plasma cutters for cutting steel and incorporate thermal cutting processes. Through instruction and practice, students will be able to use basic lay-out and measuring tools effectively to prepare for cutting and fit-up.

Students will be able to identify and demonstrate understanding of the basic AWS welding symbols and various electrodes and their applications. Tack welding techniques and procedures will be discussed, modeled and practiced.

There will be an introduction to industry structures and processes and students will discover requirements to qualify as metal fabricators. Metal fabrication training includes 20% classroom and 80% shop time. To graduate, 75% or greater is necessary on written and hands-on skills exams.

Free Welding Training for eligible candidates

Projected Start Date of Next Course: June 2021

Welders are in demand!

Welding training is ongoing through a partnership with Wor-Wic Community College, Arcon Welding Services, Quality Staffing Services and the Lower Shore Workforce Alliance. This training is free thanks to a grant from the Department of Labor EARN Maryland grant.

For more information about the course, please contact Wor-Wic at (410) 334-2815, visit www.worwic.edu or email Dr. Rhonda Banks at rbanks@worwic.edu. To be considered for the training, contact Quality Staffing Services at (410) 742-2600 or visit easternshorejobs.com and apply for the Welding Training.

To Be Eligible For Consideration, Candidates Must:

- Be age 17 or older
- Have a High School Diploma or GED
- Be able to pass a pre-employment urine drug screen
- Display hand-arm steadiness
- Display strong near-vision to see details at close range
- Possess good depth perception and manual dexterity
- Be able to work in extremely hot, dusty and noisy environments
- Be able to lift at least 50 lbs. unassisted
- Be able to adjust controls with precision
- Be able to recognize and solve problems
- Be able to work well with others and accept positive, constructive criticism that aids in growth
- Be able to supply and wear safety equipment (e.g. welding helmet, safety glasses, gloves, hearing protection, steel toe boots, jacket (100% wool, leather or cotton or hybrid of these materials) and 100% cotton long sleeve shirt) at est. cost $150-$250)
- Maryland resident (Lower Shore preferred)

- Be able to support themselves for the duration of the training
- Commit to attend classes, be on time, work hard and not give up!

Stick, Flux Core, MIG and TIG Welding is a 455 hour course with 5 hours of instruction per day, Monday-Friday for 18.2 weeks. The course is designed to provide the entry level welder with the skills necessary to secure employment in the welding industry.

Students will begin by developing knowledge to work safely within industry standards and recognize and avoid hazards. Through instruction, discussion, modeling and practice, students will become proficient with blueprint reading, measuring, hand and power tools, and stick/MIG/flux core/TIG set-ups, processes and clean up.

Safely establish and utilize an oxy-fuel outfit for cutting of steel and the basics of the thermal cutting processes. Use power tools for preparation of base metals prior to welding, be able to use measuring devices and fit-up tools effectively.

Identify the AWS classification of electrodes and their application to the various welding procedures as well as the limitations of filler metals. Select the proper polarity and current requirements for various electrodes and identify the common welding processes used.

Recognize common weld discontinuities, defects and successfully inspect work to industry standards set forth in the "AWS D1.1 Structural welding code." Be aware of the requirements of a "Welder Procedure Specification."

Skills will be articulated verbally, in writing and by performance on quizzes, tests, a final exam and destructive bend test prior to seeking employment. Up to eight welding qualifications may be earned for structural welding.

A welder qualification record (WQR) will be issued to successful completers. Training includes both classroom (20%) and shop instruction (80%).

The intent behind and expectation of the training is to obtain welding employment.

Construction Academy: Free Training for eligible candidates

The construction industry on the Lower Eastern Shore needs workers!

Wor-Wic Community College is offering a "Construction Academy" training program funded by a Department of Labor EARN Maryland grant in partnership with industry representatives, Quality Staffing Services and the Lower Shore Workforce Alliance.

The next two course program runs from Sept. 2021-April 2022, one evening per week with a partial/whole day internship component. For more information, please contact Wor-Wic at (410) 334-2815, visit www.worwic.edu or email Dr. Rhonda Banks at rbanks@worwic.edu.

To be considered for this free, career-changing training, contact Quality Staffing Services at 410-742-2600 or visit EasternShoreJobs.com and apply for Carpentry Training.

To be eligible for consideration, candidates must:

- Be a Maryland resident (Lower Shore preferred)
- Have a High School Diploma or GED (Minimum age 17)
- Be able to pass a pre-employment "5 panel" drug screen
- Display hand-arm steadiness
- Display strong near-vision to see details at close range
- Be able to work in hot, cold, dusty and noisy environments
- Possess good depth perception and manual dexterity
- Be able to adjust controls with precision
- Be able to recognize and solve problems
- Be able to lift 50 lbs. unassisted
- Be able to work well with others and accept positive, constructive criticism that aids in growth
- Be able to supply and wear safety equipment (e.g. safety glasses, gloves, hearing protection)
- Be job ready
- Have reliable transportation

The "Construction Academy" is designed to prepare students with basic skills required to enter the construction industry.

Experience "hands-on" instruction on proper and safe use of hand and power tools. Focus on basic safety standards for construction. Review basic math & measurement as they relate to construction (math functions, decimal-fraction conversion and basic geometry), reading a tape measure and print reading. Review drawing plans to determine materials and fasteners needed.

Discover the importance of work ethic from the employer's perspective. Demonstrate critical thinking and problem solving skills by working through issues related to the construction industry. Focus on construction career paths and understand how a construction team works together. Topics include floor systems, wall systems, basic stair layout, doors and door hardware, drywall installation, drywall finishing, suspended ceilings, trim (window, floor & ceiling) and cabinet installation.

Experience construction through an internship to strengthen all skills. The intent behind the "Construction Academy" is to obtain construction employment.
