How to Introduce Yourself at a Job Interview

First impressions can play a major role in how an employer perceives you as a candidate. What you say during the first phase of the interview can make a difference in the outcome—in a good way or in a bad way. You don't want to come across as awkward and lacking in social skills. Rather, you'll want to show that you have the professionalism and communication skills to be an asset to the company if hired.

The interview, can lead the hiring manager to perceive a candidate as having an inability to make a commitment, meet deadlines, focus, and follow-through, which are not qualities that will impress an employer.

Important: Little things make a big difference at this stage of a job search. That's why it's important to pay attention to interview manners and to think through how you will introduce yourself during the job interview. Review these simple steps for introducing yourself, with examples of what to do and say to everyone you meet during the hiring process, so you can make a positive impression.

What to Say When You Arrive at the Interview

Be prepared to make a quick introduction to the person who greets you. When you arrive at the interview site, introduce yourself to the receptionist by stating your name and the reason for your visit. For example:

- My name is Tim Jones, and I have an interview scheduled with John Smith at 2 p.m.
 - I'm Janine Bellows, and I have an appointment with Jack Clark at 10 a.m.
- Be courteous and respectful to this first contact at the company. Many hiring managers will ask the receptionist for his or her impression of a candidate. If you act rudely or dismissively, you could put yourself out of the running for the job before you even meet with the hiring manager.

What to Say When You Meet the Hiring Manager

You may have to wait a few minutes for your appointment. Then, you will either be escorted to the interview room, or the hiring manager will come out to meet you in the reception area. Even though you have an appointment, take the time to introduce yourself so the interviewer knows who you are.

Stand up if you're seated, and offer to shake hands even if the interviewer doesn't offer their hand first. It's proper etiquette to include a handshake as part of your introduction.

Tell the interviewer that it is a pleasure to meet them, smile, and make eye contact. For example:

- I'm Tina Lionel, it's a pleasure to meet you.
- Avoid common interview mistakes, like not paying attention or dressing inappropriately. And if you know that you're prone to interview stress, avoid a problem by researching the company, preparing for the interview, and practicing positive thinking.

Tip: To avoid sweaty palms, stop in the restroom prior to the interview and wash and dry your hands. If that's not feasible, use a tissue to dry off your hands ahead of time.

Introducing Yourself at a Video Interview

When you're interviewing via video, be sure to arrive at the meeting slightly early, so you're sure all your technology is in working order. Arriving late is one of the Zoom interview mistakes you don't want to make.

Look directly at the camera, and try to keep your focus on the camera during the interview. That's how you'll make eye contact with your interviewer. The interviewer will start the meeting by introducing themselves. After the interviewer's introduction, you can reply with a simple introduction of your own:

- Hi, I'm Sylvia. It's a pleasure to meet you.
- Hello [interviewer name], I'm Katie, and I'm looking forward to talking with you.
- I'm Jason. Thank you for taking the time to speak with me today.

Keep Your Introduction Short and Concise

You'll have an opportunity to introduce yourself on an in-depth basis during the interview. Many hiring managers will start an interview with an open-ended question like "Tell me about yourself." The core of your response should focus on the key elements in your background that will enable you to excel in the job for which you are interviewing. Create an elevator pitch and practice it, so you're comfortable describing yourself.

Carefully analyze the job before the interview, so you can point out the interests, skills, experiences, and personal qualities that will enable you to meet or exceed the job and company requirements.

Tip: Review answers to "tell me about yourself" questions. Learn the best ways to highlight your skills, experience, and personality without sharing too much information or taking up too much precious interview time.

Focus on Your Qualifications

Your introduction should be concise enough to hold the interest of the interviewer. Generally, a quick recap of your most compelling qualifications will suffice. You could also mention a couple of tidbits that aren't essential to the job but reflect your persona, like the fact that you are an avid skier, have performed at comedy clubs, or collect African art.

Your goal is to connect personally with the interviewer, as well as to show that you're qualified for the job and would make a great new hire.

Important: This is your opportunity to sell yourself to the hiring manager, so take advantage of it.

Of course, your initial comments should show your enthusiasm for the job and organization. However, don't overdo it or spend too much time talking about yourself. The interviewer has an agenda and time is limited, so keep your introduction brief so you can move on to the next question.

Be Prepared for Follow-Up Questions

The interviewer may follow up on your introduction with more questions, so it's important to remember that you will need to support and expand on whatever assertions you make during your introduction.

Be prepared to provide specific examples of how and where you have utilized your assets to successfully carry out work or volunteer roles, academic projects, or other productive endeavors. One way to provide detailed responses is to use the STAR interview technique to describe your accomplishments and achievements.

You should also be prepared to ask questions during the interview. Have a short list of questions you'd like to know about the job and the company ready to ask the interviewer. Use the interview not only as a chance to highlight your qualifications, but also, to determine whether this job and employer are a good fit for you and your career goals.

Remember Manners Matter at Job Interviews

Regardless of the job you are applying for, you will be expected to act professionally throughout every phase of the interview process, from greeting the interviewer to saying thank you after your interview.

Review job interview etiquette tips for before, during, and after a job interview to ensure that you're minding your manners. Make sure you know what to say, what to bring with you, and how to answer and ask questions politely and professionally to make the best possible impression.

- Maryland resident (Lower Shore preferred)
- Be job ready
- Have reliable transportation
- Be able to support themselves for the duration of the training

Metal fabricators are in demand!

Metal fabricator training is ongoing through a partnership with Wor-Wic Community College, Arcon Welding Training Center, Crystal Steel, Quality Staffing Services and the Lower Shore Workforce Alliance. The training is free thanks to grants from the Maryland Department of Labor EARN and Maryland Energy Administration.

Courses run Monday through Friday for 14 weeks from 5:30-9:00pm. For more information, please contact Wor-Wic at (410) 334-2815, visit www.worwic.edu or email Dr. Rhonda Banks at rbanks@worwic.edu.

To be considered for the free career-changing training, contact Quality Staffing Services at (410) 742-2600 or visit easternshorejobs.com and apply for Metal Fabrication Training.

The new Basic Metal Fabrication course will provide 250 hours of evening instruction and practice over 14 consecutive weeks. Graduates of the training will be job and career ready and have entry level metal fabricator skills that are necessary to secure employment in the metal fabrication industry.

Students will progress from basic blue print reading and industry math to fundamental A.I.S.C. fitting practices for a variety of metal shapes. This course includes safety for fabricators and an introduction to hand and power tools. Students will develop knowledge for working safely within the industry standards, recognize and avoid potential hazards and receive OSHA trainings.

Metal fabrication students will safely work with oxy-fuel and hand-held plasma cutters for cutting steel and incorporate thermal cutting processes. Through instruction and practice, students will be able to use basic lay-out and measuring tools effectively to prepare for cutting and fit-up.

Students will be able to identify and demonstrate understanding of the basic AWS welding symbols and various electrodes and their applications. Tack welding techniques and procedures will be discussed, modeled and practiced.

There will be an introduction to industry structures and processes and students will discover requirements to qualify as metal fabricators. Metal fabrication training includes 20% classroom and 80% shop time. To graduate, 75% or greater is necessary on written and hands-on skills exams.

Wor-Wic Community College

Free Welding Training for eligible candidates

Projected Start Date of Next Course: November 2021

Welders are in demand!

Welding training is ongoing through a partnership with Wor-Wic Community College, Arcon Welding Services, Quality Staffing Services and the Lower Shore Workforce Alliance. This training is free thanks to a grant from the Department of Labor EARN Maryland grant.

- Be able to support themselves for the duration of the training
- Commit to attend classes, be on time, work hard and not give up!

Stick, Flux Core, MIG and TIG Welding is a 455 hour course with 5 hours of instruction per day, Monday-Friday for 18.2 weeks. The course is designed to provide the entry level welder with the skills necessary to secure employment in the welding industry.

Students will begin by developing knowledge to work safely within industry standards and recognize and avoid hazards. Through instruction, discussion, modeling and practice, students will become proficient with blueprint reading, measuring, hand and power tools, and stick/MIG/flux core/TIG set-ups, processes and clean up.

Safely establish and utilize an oxy-fuel outfit for cutting of steel and the basics of the thermal cutting processes. Use power tools for preparation of base metals prior to welding, be able to use measuring devices and fit-up tools effectively.

Identify the AWS classification of electrodes and their application to the various welding procedures as well as the limitations of filler metals. Select the proper polarity and current requirements for various electrodes and identify the common welding processes used.

Recognize common weld discontinuities, defects and successfully inspect work to industry standards set forth in the "AWS D1.1 Structural welding code." Be aware of the requirements of a "Welder Procedure Specification."

Skills will be articulated verbally, in writing and by performance on quizzes, tests, a final exam and destructive bend test prior to seeking employment. Up to eight welding qualifications may be earned for structural welding.

A welder qualification record (WQR) will be issued to successful completers. Training includes both classroom (20%) and shop instruction (80%).

The intent behind and expectation of the training is to obtain welding employment.

Wor-Wic Community College

Construction Academy: Free Training for eligible candidates

The construction industry on the Lower Eastern Shore needs workers!

Wor-Wic Community College is offering a "Construction Academy" training program funded by a Department of Labor EARN Maryland grant in partnership with industry representatives, Quality Staffing Services and the Lower Shore Workforce Alliance.

The next two course program runs from Sept. 2021-April 2022, one evening per week with a partial/whole day internship component. For more information, please contact Wor-Wic at (410) 334-2815, visit www.worwic.edu or email Dr. Rhonda Banks at rbanks@worwic.edu.

To be considered for this free, career-changing training, contact Quality Staffing Services at 410-742-2600 or visit EasternShoreJobs.com and apply for Carpentry Training.

To be eligible for consideration, candidates must:

- Be a Maryland resident (Lower Shore preferred)
- Have a High School Diploma or GED (Minimum age 17)
- Be able to pass a pre-employment "5 panel" drug screen
- Display hand-arm steadiness
- Display strong near-vision to see details at close range
- Be able to work in hot, cold, dusty and noisy environments
- Possess good depth perception and manual dexterity
- Be able to adjust controls with precision
- Be able to recognize and solve problems
- Be able to lift 50 lbs. unassisted
- Be able to work well with others and accept positive, constructive criticism that aids in growth
- Be able to supply and wear safety equipment (e.g. safety glasses, gloves, hearing protection)
- Be job ready
- Have reliable transportation

The "Construction Academy" is designed to prepare students with basic skills required to enter the construction industry.

Experience "hands-on" instruction on proper and safe use of hand and power tools. Focus on basic safety standards for construction. Review basic math & measurement as they relate to construction (math functions, decimal-fraction conversion and basic geometry), reading a tape measure and print reading. Review drawing plans to determine materials and fasteners needed.

Discover the importance of work ethic from the employer's perspective. Demonstrate critical thinking and problem solving skills by working through issues related to the construction industry. Focus on construction career paths and understand how a construction team works together. Topics include floor systems, wall systems, basic stair layout, doors and door hardware, drywall installation, drywall finishing, suspended ceilings, trim (window, floor & ceiling) and cabinet installation.

Experience construction through an internship to strengthen all skills. The intent behind the "Construction Academy" is to obtain construction employment.

ADULT EDUCATION PROGRAM

There are TWO ways to earn a Maryland High School Diploma: Completing the National External Diploma Program® OR Passing the Official GED® Test!

The program serves adults, who are at least 18 years old and residents of Wicomico Co., Maryland. The NEDP® can enroll clients from Worcester and Somerset Co.

The NEDP® can enroll clients residing in Wicomico, Somerset, and Worcester Counties. The NEDP® is a computer-based portfolio, which is accessed online. There is a $150 fee to enroll into the program, which is paid when the client qualifies on Reading and Math skills tests. Clients earn a diploma after all eight competency areas are 100% demonstrated.

There is a $45 fee for the complete Official GED® Test for 1st time test takers who reside in Maryland. There is a $30 fee for each GED® Test Subject for re-takes. There are 4 subjects in the complete test. Students schedule for the Official GED® Test at www.ged.com. The Adult Education Program provides testing and classes to help students prepare for the official test, but we are not authorized to schedule, reschedule, or administer the Official GED® Test.
